

Theta Delta Chi Points System

Mission

The purpose of the points system is to promote the values we hold as a fraternity and to encourage participation in brotherhood activities by awarding points for positively contributing to the fraternity and subtracting points for failing to complete the duties expected of a brother.

Implementation

Points will be tracked continually by the officers of the house via an online wiki. Officers will log in and add or deduct points to individuals based on participation in that day's events. Every week, the Senior Executive will be in charge of updating a bulletin board and presenting it in house meeting to the entire brotherhood.

Weekly reports will also play a role in ensuring that no one is misusing the points system. Any officer found to be misusing the points system will automatically forfeit any points he would receive from holding that position.

It is impossible for the points system to be inclusive of every possible event that would lead to the addition or reduction of points. In cases where new points warrant rewarding, the officer proposing the points will present it in house meeting for discussion and ratification by the entire brotherhood.

Specific point values are listed in the following table.

Rewards and Consequences

Every week, the brother gaining the most points from the previous week will be recognized as the “brother of the week” and have his accomplishments recognized by the entire brotherhood in house meeting.

On a monthly basis, brothers exhibiting unusually low points will be approached by the president to ensure that the brother is safe, happy, and able to contribute to the house as a dedicated brother. If the brother continues to remain at low scores, the situation will be brought up with the entire brotherhood for further discussion in house meeting.

At the end of each semester, a final tally of each person’s individual points will be taken and compared against every other brother’s points. The three brothers with the most points will be rewarded a scholarship donated by the alumni of TDC. Additionally, the order of room picks for the following semester will be determined based on the point totals.
